
Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Blue Quill - Paraleptophlebia adoptiva

Re: Another to identify

Author: : Maurice

Date: : 2012/4/17 21:37:04

URL:

Wings look mottled and clear and the tails long and big eyesso I'd guess a male spinner. But thats all I get from the pic. Probably a March Brown Spinner. But with no scale its difficult. A Brown drake would be 3/4 to 1" long on the body. They are a mid may bug too but everything is early this year soooo. Who knows.

any more details on body size or whether the legs were barred? Hind wing size? Mothers maiden name? 😊

OK better pic....March Brown Spinner. Male.