atlantis - Yeah, that stretch is one of the "duds" IMO. I fished it once a couple of years ago from the Gravel Hill Rd. bridge on the Swattie down past the mouth of the Quittie and around that next bend. I caught a couple Redbreasts and a few small Fallfish IIRC, but definitely not one of the Swatara's better stretches, and not one I'd target to fish again probably. Last year's floods may have changed it some I guess, but as I remember it that stretch was a lot of very shallow riffles over fine gravel. There was a handful of more "bouldery" spots, but the water was still pretty shallow around them. Bummer that's what you're closest to, but you're not far from some good water...PM coming.
