The local Orvis store has been great to us. They special order us stuff, even small speciality items when we need them and we get a 15% TU discount. Right now if you're looking for wader's with a 36" inseam, size large, with a size 13 stocking foot for a 6'4" teen that lives in water the PG3 waders fit and have a good reputation for lasting. You can't get Simms in talls or many others. Hey I say buy what suits you and won't get you divorced. I have a friend that just bought a Helios and he loves it! I'd probably shut it in a car door.

I fish with an old Fenwick, my son has a sage and a G. Loomis. We both love our Korkers. We shop TCO at State College, Dick Ackourey's (more often if closer) and Gander here at home. (You can always find something at Gander.) For mail order if you can't make the drive Cabelas has treated us awesome as well. AND if you in the Nicholson area on rt 92 stop and see Ron at Rons flies. We still stop by even if we don't need anything.

Also I hate Walmart too! Just a scary place but I go there too if Im absolutely pressed to.

I say support who treats you right.

Instead of beating on Orvis maybe a review of some of our favorite shops and why we like them. I'm always up for shopping somewhere new. It would come in handy if I'm not fishing on familiar waters.
