

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Grey Fox - Maccaffertium Vicarium

Re: Cahill

Author: : ryguyfi

Date: : 2012/4/30 14:22:02

URL:

This new forum has intrigued me to get better at my bug ID. I looked at this pic and said "March Brown, no contest" when I read your stream report, and now in this post you say cahill. I see why, but also remember Jonus' talk a few years back at the JAM and said that one pool may be March browns, and the next pool up may be Grey Foxes. All the same now. Would have guessed the size discrepancy would lead me to Grey fox. Anxious to see what everyone else says.