seems like not everybody hates orvis after all lol. Ive heard orvis been called for city slickers too a couple of times as well as snobby and other similar terms. why is this, manchester is pretty far from a city, its probably more like volant pa than a city lol. As far as being snobby, I would think that the mega priced stuff like sage, hardy, and the others would be the ones classified as snobby becuae I think orvis is a little cheaper overall than those brands right?
