

---

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : BWO or female Hendrickson

Re: BWO or female Hendrickson

Author: : crepuscular

Date: : 2012/5/2 10:14:15

URL:

henrydavid, where was this mayfly collected? I don't need exact location or even stream but more like state (I'm assuming PA) but region as well. Getting Ephemerellids to genus can be tough at times especially females. I can't see some important characters from your photographs. There is a lot of variation in E. subvaria, but a size 16 is pretty small for one. But it's certainly possible, eye color doesn't look right to me for it to be Eurylophella and it's a little early for them as well but this year being what it is anything is possible as far as emergence dates go. D. cornuta would be early as well and the tails are wrong.