Yes, this year, things much earlier. Betting the March Brown's will be done or close to it, but I'd have a few on hand anyway.

Sulphers will be everywhere. Have yellow bodied duns in 14-18 focusing on 16's. Emergers, PT nymphs and rusty spinners in the same sizes. Green Drakes on Penns is a very good possibility. At least some, whether we hit the "peak" or not is tough to predict as it only lasts a few days in each location, but we'll be close and I'm betting there'll be a few drakes around.
