I thought about quitting my job and buying a business in a very rural part of PA that was for sale. She said that I was too much of a city slicker to last more than a month in such a place. I retorted that I could fish more often. She replied that I would go nutz with out good specialty food stores and a bar that carried more than two micro brews. She is right; I could not see myself living in a place that did not have a Hotdog joint, Thai, Indian, and a kick butt beer distributor than 15 min from the house. I mean I drink and eat more than I fish.

How does one determine if a person is a city slicker when on the stream? I rarely carry Pad Thai when on the stream or any take out for that matter. Maybe my waders smell like curry? No, that is just my own funk. Hummmm, maybe people are glassing me to see what type of rod I am holding? Maybe it was the time I had Gino's Pizza deliver a Pizza to the Delayed Harvest section of the Loyalhanna?

Now I am going to be extremely self conscience when I am fishing those wild trout streams in the ANF. Please tell use how the miscreants look so that I may a least avoid looking like one. Maybe they are clean shaven
