

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Opening Day 2007

Re: Opening Day 2007

Author: : Padraic

Date: : 2006/9/21 8:05:47

URL:

Quote:

This was approved fairly recently and I'm a bit surprised about the relative lack of public input

Fishidiot,

The FIRST time this was proposed, there was a good deal of public input against it. I guess the FBC didn't like the public input, so they kept proposing it until it went under the radar. IMHO, this is one of the slimier moves the FBC has done in a very slimy few years.

I guarantee there will be unintended consequences, and those will probably look a lot like POSTED signs. Landowners living along streams in "border" counties, like Dauphin, will now have the opening day crowds they are accustomed too PLUS all the people coming from counties a little further North.