

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Something's been bugging me...!

Re: Something's been bugging me...!

Author: : Maurice

Date: : 2012/5/18 7:55:40

URL:

Hey it could have crawled up under your gravel guard hitch-hiked home with you, hatched and then found your aquarium to lay eggs. But lemme guess, you have a lid on the tank.

You are a fisherman, you found an aquatic insect in your home....not a big surprise.

Is that a helgermite? Wait til that hatches.....it'l be like a bird flying through the house.