The is a stocked stream I used to fish and see fish feeding everywhere, but could never catch any.

1 of 3 things always worked.....

1. flout an unweighted PT nymph. The fish would often eat the shucks washed in the main current from the previous night's hatch.

2. Ants

3. Move to a different/faster stretch of water and find fish that are willing to take my fly.

Usually I just skipped 1 and 2 and moved somewhere else.
