Wb of the Delaware Monday thru Wednesday sulfurs came off right at dark. The whole day bead heads in the riffles above and below produced. They most certainly will launch right out of the water after an emerger. Next time fish the riffle above your recent spot with a bead head in tandem with a soft hackle below a strike indicator or a big boyant dun. In preparation for that evening hatch they seem to percolate in the riffles. Those sulfurs at least the small ones must emerge in the riffles.
