About what I would expect from an anti drilling English professor from a state run school. A collection of some very old data that has been documented ad nauseam in every newspaper, anti drilling website and on DEP's own web site over the past 8 years.

A large portion of those violations are written in "legal speak" so that DEP attorneys can justify the fines they are asking for. You see more adverse affects from truck crashes over a years time.

I was worried I would be the first to respond to Missy. 😊
