

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Toothy Critter Success Thread

Re: Toothy Critter Success Thread

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2012/6/3 13:09:31

URL:

[quote]

jay348 wrote:

Blew the only shot I had today. The little dude mouthed my fly, but I jumped the gun on the hookset. Whole thing was in its mouth, but the hook never caught. And to twist the knife even deeper, the fish hung out there for another half hour...laughing (or whatever fish do)...

[quote]

Darn muskies - they can be frustrating indeed. 😞

When you encounter a situation like this where you can see a muskie but he won't eat your fly.....your best bet is to switch to live bait.....live line him a wild brook trout. Don't use a stockie, they don't like the taste - you need a brightly colored wild brookie rigged with a trebel hook and wire leader to get them to strike. If you're looking to get some wild brookies in south east PA for musky bait....send a PM to Chaz, hopefully he can help you find some bait.

