All of my lines are WF also.

I prefer the welded loop because it's easier to reel in through the guides if I have to, and it is easier to change leaders. My lines that don't have a welded loop I just used a nail knot to tie on a short piece of heavy mono, and then tied a perfection loop to the end to attach the leader to.

All of my lines are yellow or light green, but to me it doesn't really matter.
