@missy, It is a very fickle industry, but you are looking at one of the cleanest fuels available, (nuclear is cleaner but thats another demonized industry to argue about on another day)

This country cannot run off of wind or solar energy and clean energy will always be needed.

This industry is cyclical and will be down again. Look at our price of natural gas! It's almost to low to still be profitable to drill.

It's a shame that a lot of the jobs will go with it.
