I think most people like to match the quality of reel with the quality of rod. No use in tossing a plastic reel on a $700 rod.

That sounds ridiculous to me. Fishing isn't a fashion statement in my mind. I've got no problem mixing expensive gear with cheap gear.

I got streamerguy beat. I pair my $1000 rod with a $30 reel. And I pair my $90 rod with a $150 reel.

I'm not saying it's a fashion statement. More saying that if people can afford a $700 rod, then they're most likely going to pair it with a nice reel and visa versa. I don't think it's THE rule, but I still stand by my statement that most people try to do so.
