For a thousand years British and Americans made motorcycles with vertically assembled engine housing. Earl everywhere in the castle, then some guy in Asia said "Why not horizontally ?"
Suddenly you could meet the nicest people on a Honda.
{probably get hollered at for OT}

Actually the oil leaks had their logic & benefits as the bikes were rebuildable for years and years without any rust in the damp, wet & rainy UK weather. {probably also get hollered at for OT}
