

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Summer Water Temperature Thread

Re: Summer Water Temperature Thread

Author: : fadeaway263

Date: : 2012/7/11 21:12:36

URL:

Quote:

afishinado wrote:

If you took a temp at 5pm, it would read >70*, and that was on Sunday on a partly cloudy 90* day.

Saturday the air temp was close to 100*. The water temp would be real hot by late afternoon. A lot of guys fish in the evening after work. Not a good time to fish Valley or any other stream with wild trout in the SE.

The water is very low and heats up quickly. And with any T-storm or downpour, HOT water is injected directly into Valley from the runoff from highways, parking lots and storm drains.

It a miracle the fish are there, you can thank the efforts from Valley Forge TU. Fade and the Prof, better yet, you can send you donation here.

Give the fish a break and wait for the temps to go down.

Please see my thoughts on the other warm water thread that I am not an idiot. Well of course my wife may not agree.