

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Yough Bug, what is it?

Re: Yough Bug, what is it?

Author: : DaveS

Date: : 2012/7/13 9:17:01

URL:

No question Greg, that is the bug I found. I observed several that looked "Spent" But were in fact pretty lively, because I couldn't get a pic. I picked out an appropriate sized spent caddis, and got a take immediately.

So between six or seven posters here, (Who probably have 100+ years of experience combined) we've never seen this one before!

Gotta love Fly fishing, it can humble ya!

Hey I'd also point out that the eyes seem much larger than any other midge I've ever seen. Something tells me its not a midge. I wish I would have collected a specimen.