PCray,

Hey maybe in yer neck of the woods you fish with folks that dont litter or destroy the streamside vegetation...come over this way ill show you what i mean.You may take offense..but remember this , go to most any FF only section or whatever they have changed the flavor to at the moment an look and see if the area is littered by the particular anglers that use that area. I only ever find cigarette butts maybe a piece of cigar. now go above that or below that even with garbage cans supplied in the parking areas worm containers,beer/soda cans, spinner/lure wrappers,power bait jars,fast food containers..the list goes on.

Like i posted earlier..I too am a carry in carry out guy..yes i have hauled out plenty of full bags of garbage from streams in open tackle areas....why cause i care. i could care less about image, but IMHO fly anglers have a better mindset about their resource,thus sthey are true caretakers of the waters they enjoy.
