Look. It's no different than Ping golf clubs, H&K handguns, Glock vs Colt, etc. I don't know why so many folks spend their time worrying about what the guy next to him uses. Just get out and have fun.

My brother has a Tenkara. Mostly because he has (or had) every size/weight western rod combo you could think of. The Tenkara is neat and at some point I'll probably own one, just for the simplicity sake of it. Looks like fun. I am a bit a survivalist as well and anytime I can accomplish the same task, with less weight to carry, or space taken up in a backpack, I'll adopt it.
