Thanks guys for all the tips, I have to give them a try and see if I'm successful. It's funny as some of you describe how evolved Bass are, because the other day I was using a Grasshopper pattern and about 4 Bass were toying with this thing. Know matter how I presented the Grasshopper they just wanted to play with it. The other thing they like to do is when I hook onto a bluegill they have to see what all the fuss is about and I'm pretty sure when I hooked onto a small Bluegill a lunker came out of the rocks and ate em. That was when my knot slipped and I lost em. That was quite an eye opener!
