Dear trico,

Do you have the ability to take digital pictures and post them? If so go to this site and post pictures and ask questions in the "Appraisal and Identification" section. You need to register to post, but there are a lot of bamboo fans there who can offer help. Your rod may be better suited for wall mounting, or it may be a quality rod that somebody fiddled around with and attempted to restore years ago and it may be worth being properly restored.

I don't know enough to give you much help myself.

Regards,

Tim Murphy 😊
