Had a great time yesterday..Thanks to everyone who got this together. The food was amazing and hell of a show by DJS on the grill. It should definitely be an annual event. I take some satisfaction in knowing I tricked a few fish on trico's but pulled a George and didn't land either. Carolyn on the other hand did land the one wild brown that she hooked so again the tally at the end of the day was 1-0...this streak must come to an end so I'm taking Mcfinn's advice and just ordered a case of dynamite...I think that should do the trick for getting some fish.

Since its that time of year for olympics I think I saw a world record fall yesterday. I have never seen so many chocolate chip cookies disappear in such a short amount of time than I did yesterday when Ed took a seat at the picnic table with a stack of cookies in front of him..It was quite a show but understandable because I couldn't stop eating them myself. Ed and George, thanks again for setting Carolyn up big time yesterday. She is already talking about fishing next weekend. Lunch is on me next time we get together and fish..I know Ed's picking Cali burrito!
