great post! As a new guy to fly fishing as well I am experiencing the same issue. I'm so fired up at that moment the trout shows that I am missing my hook set most times. Is it just inexperience or a truly experienced fish? Stagger Lee I hear ya. On Valley Creek I have watched fish fire up clear out of the water only to pull my fly right by my ear into a bush behind me. ;(. I'm obsessed with trying to get better and enjoy the occasional hook up that much more. It's refreshing to hear I'm not the only one experiencing the same growing pains during this learning curve that appears to last a life time.
