If I'm not in New York for Salmon, I'll try to make it down for this. Might be able to convince my grill to come along too. 😊

As far as seating goes, I have a couple of folding tables I can bring, and I sure most of us have folding or roll up chairs.

Paul and I have been discussing the date as October 6th, for our little shindig. Swattie if you want to put your own thing together feel free to do it. I am sure people would be willing to jump in on it. I mean we could split up on the pocono newbie jam. I could lead a group of guys to one of my bigger streams, and Paul or swattie or someone else could lead a brookie trip. Up to you guys.

Shane you've been renamed "Big Water" by me :) That would be a good idea. Just need to identify a logical place for the Picnic portion of our program. Pohopoco has some open areas up by the dam (grassy areas), only seating is the issue. If we can find a park near a good stream that would be ideal. Otherwise it's a good stream where everyone can spread out on and stay more or less in a group.
