Just a note on Orvis stores. As everyone knows the PG3's are on back order and even though the rep told our store A&A Outfitters in NE Pa. that they would be in on time for a tryout my son had, they aren't going to make it in time. My sons present waders of course decided to leak in the inner seams a couple of days ago. The store has offered to let him take a new pair of Tail waters to wear and turn them in when his PG3's come in. It's not like they can put them back in the box and sell them again. Another person from the same store lent him his Oakley sun glasses last tryout.

The new PG3's changed the seam pattern so that those inter-seam leaks won't happen and the Tail waters will be redesigned as well. for next year. They are a much better buy than Simms and like I said before if you're a hard to fit size they offer more options. These are some nice guys. The owner offered to lend my son his if they fit as well.

If the store treats you right and the product suits you shop there.
