It would be interesting to see how many fish 14" or greater are shocked from the TT section vs the C&R. It sounds like the water shocked was in fact "big fish" habitat. By "legal" fish, it is assumed greater than 14" and not the typical PFBC size limit.

PC - I think VC was looking for a little clarification since the post only gave generalizations and an "opinion" rather than any significant findings or data. Why not give him a break!!!
