

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Floating the Conestoga River

Floating the Conestoga River

Author: : NickR

Date: : 2012/8/12 14:01:10

URL:

Hey guys, I am not a new poster but used to post under the screen name Nickyboy but changed my screen name and will now be posting under the name NickR. I am fortunate to know some of you guys but there are so many of you that I have not met. I look forward to new opportunities to fish with some of you guys and share our knowledge together.

Anyone familiar with floating the Conestoga River? I just want to see if there is an interest from any forum members here to float it at some point. It might be helpful for me to have someone who knows the water a little better than me because I don't know if I will have issues running into private property or water that is dangerous to float.

I would be using a one man pontoon boat to float.