

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Brown-lining dump

Re: Brown-lining dump

Author: : Kabutt

Date: : 2012/8/12 20:14:40

URL:

Quote:

Fredrick wrote:

NICE how did you get him .

There were about a dozen of them feeding way up in the head of a riffle, one of them even feeding on the surface. It ignored a damselfly pattern, but this one inhaled my tiger-barred fur leech.

I had lots of refusals all day. It was amazing to watch them swim over, "sniff" my fly, and then swim away. I never really targeted carp much before this summer - man I've been missing out. They're so fun to catch, and incredibly challenging too.