

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Delaware coast

Re: Delaware coast

Author: : mkoloch

Date: : 2012/8/14 15:29:34

URL:

I'm down all the time...Your in prime position with those cottages. The new rock wall behind the coast guard station will allow you to walk with tennis shoes on to the water and make easy casts the coast guard wall. I would recommend a sinking line, since you'll need to get down. If you run into some blues, no problem you can use a clouser to get to them usually. If you get time, venture out (with family) to Roosevelt inlet or Cape Henelopen. Easy wading and good FF opportunities. The sea wall at the ferry dock can offer some decent fishing that time of year.