In case there are any cigar smokers who want to trade fly gear, I am offering up my Burdseye Burl 7 drawer tower humidor. Here is the description, but I you can also search Craigslist, Philadelphia, type in: Tower Humidor, and you can see more pictures:

This is a high gloss birdseye burl veneer, lined in kiln dried Spanish cedar. Seven drawers built of Spanish Cedar and slotted for air circulation. Each drawer is 9.5" x 7.35" and has removable dividers.made of Spanish cedar as well. You can adjust them left/right to store sticks of various sizes. One drawer had a piece of veneer come off, but I just place it at the bottom, where no one can see it (see picture).

When I bought this humidor, the hygrometer had been removed and digital was put in its place. I have both and will supply them. See through window and a capacity of 225+ depending on cigar size. Overall Dimensions: 20.25" tall, 12" wide 10.5" deep. Amazon is asking $285 shipped. I have it one CL for $160 FTF. Or possible trade for fly fishing gear. A PAFF member can have it for $125, or partial trade for gear. FTF though, as shipping would not work out so well...

Anyway, let me know what you have and we can go from there. Right now, reels are at the top of my list, but will listen to other items.
