

Subject: : Professional Stream Reports

Topic: : August Update on the Y

Re: August Update on the Y

Author: : YoughRiverGuide

Date: : 2012/8/15 9:51:52

URL:

As a quick update for those looking to fish the river, it looks like the USACE are beginning to draw the lake down, so they've bumped the daily flows up to 500 cfs. For now at least--until the lake runs out of cold water--that will keep the water temps good down to below Ohio pyle.

Afternoon and evening fishing has been good: ISOs and BWOs are what's happening. If you don't see any fish eating on top, go with a nymph rig matching those two bugs, you shouldn't be disappointed.

Other than that, all your favorite bugs should get a few fish as well.

Enjoy the remainder of the season,

LHGS

www.laurelhighlandsguideservices.com