

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Break

Re: Break

Author: : Swattie87

Date: : 2012/8/16 12:36:10

URL:

Speaking of Herons...any one else seem to think their population is sky rocketing. Pretty much every stream I fish, except for the high elevation/high gradient tiny Brookie runs seems to have a resident Heron population now. I don't always see the bird(s) themselves, but their tell tale tracks are there on the streambank. Maybe I just never took a notice before, but I used to remember them just being on larger streams.