

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Cold Water Sanctuary

Re: Cold Water Sanctuary

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2012/8/19 13:38:07

URL:

I'm sympathetic to the idea but, as you know.....the devil is always in the details.

It might be workable on private land under some circumstances but on public property, you'd probably need to get the PFBC on board with such a project and they will likely decline due to practical reasons such as signage, enforcement, confusion over regulations and precedent. In recent years, for example, there has been a pretty well organized effort by FFers and others to do something along these lines up at Pine Creek where trout predictably stack up at certain tribs every summer. As far as I know, the plans have not come to fruition and the PFBC remains skeptical.