I think this is the right category to drop this. If it should do in the General forum the mods can feel free to move it

So I have two family vacations booked, Florida and Cancun. I have seen numerous videos and tv shows about bone fishing the flats and it looks awesome. Being a newbie to Fly Fishing and fishing in general I have a few questions to those in the know:

1) How much more difficult (and the differences) is it compared to trout and WW fishing?

2) I'm leaning towards spending some cash and hiring a guide, any experience with this? Think it is smart as they will take me to where the fish are but will they also be patient enough to show me the different techniques if that is required for this type of fishing

3) Anyone fish these areas have any info they can post

As the thread evolves I'll probably have more questions ... thanks in advance
