PFBC's vetting of the refuge strategy:

PFBC Position Statement on Closing Coldwater Sanctuary Tribs

Seriously doubt that this will be reconsidered on a dwindling budget given the effort to post signs, contact landowners, commission meetings, maybe even legislative action depending on what they decide.

The simplest thing they could do any time and that would be good for saving money, saving energy, reducing pollution and improving conditions for wild trout is to stock fewer trout to begin with so there are fewer left over to seek refuge and compete with wild trout for refuge.
