

---

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Snakeheads

Re: Snakeheads

Author: : glenrockonthefly

Date: : 2012/8/21 13:34:35

URL:

Well, I'll pipe in....

Let me start with, we should try to eliminate any snakehead we catch in my opinion, but it may be a lost battle already

Let me also remind everyone that 2 of our most prized gamefish in central PA are non-native...

Brown trout I beleive are european and brought by early settlers (for that point rainbows are native to western US)

Susquehanna/juniata Smallmouth were introduced via railroad in mid-1800's according to McClane's, native to lake Erie, and Ohio rive but not Susky (I could be wrong, but pretty confident)

So we may just be in for the next wave of screwing up eco-systems snakeheads and flatheads keep your eye out for wild pigs!

I will stress that I am not happy with either snakeheads or flatheads and would like to see both eliminated, just don't know how....

just my rant!