Dear Mike,

Having caught bowfin in PA and in FL but having never caught a snakehead I have to say that anyone who could not correctly distinguish an adult snakehead from a bowfin should not be fishing.

Those two fish pictured in a fish's post couldn't be much less alike. Different head shapes, coloration, completely different fin shapes and locations, about the only things those two fish have in common are two eyes and a butthole.

Regards,

Tim Murphy 😊
