jbomb,

Welcome to our online community. As you have likely surmised, this particular waterway is heavily fished by our readership and there is some sensitivity to the issue of discussing it. Although we certainly encourage open sharing of information here on PAFF and using the Advanced Search box at the bottom of this page will bring up a large amount of content pertaining to Valley Creek....you do have the option, should you choose to do so, to send a private message using the "PM" function. It's up to you. Each of our readers must decide for themselves how they feel about discussing streams by name. Some folks here are very open about it, others never mention where they fish (and that's fine too).

Best,

Dave
