

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : slapping the hamster???

Re: slapping the hamster???

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2007/1/23 13:57:57

URL:

I saw a friend of mine, a real fish hawk, do the following on Spring Creek. He cast clear across the creek to almost on the opposite bank, then stripped as fast as he could. I was saying, What the?

But about 1/4 of the way across the creek there was this big wake, like Jaws, coming after it. He had a few follows like this, and landed one big one. I couldn't believe it. He did this in the fall, when the fish are aggressive.

There are some people out there that know some tricks that you don't hear much about.