We're seeing rainbows in places we've never seen them before, and at around the time PFBC was importing rainbows from NC hatcheries is when we started seeing more rainbows in places they shouldn't be. Like Cold Run, Solomon Creek and some others, they've reproduced at least once. Hopefully that's it.

My way of thinking all stocked fish should be sterile.

As for the LJ PFBC didn't catch any in their survey, but that doesn't mean there aren't some there. What it means is they are probably moving around from Spruce Creek.
