Heritage- thanks for your post, as well as the posts by Jack, Fox and Squatch

To veteran members of the board I'm sure these considerations are obvious, but to a newbie like myself who just started FF a few months ago and has never participated in a fishing forum before, it has been enlightening.

As a newbie, you are encouraged to "ask anything", so it is a natural inclination to immediately ask, "where is the best spot on stream XYZ to fish?". The repercussions of a seemingly innocent question like that are not immediately obvious.

Seems like the last few posts would be useful sticky for all newbs to read in the beginner forum before wandering into flame territory
