Afish,

Yes, you're probably right, though it seems odd that these pee pee's just recently appeared adjacent to the src property. It would be difficult to imagine their doing something long term. No one seems to fish that 100-yard property with 11 acres that the empire bought for 335,000 dollars. The previous owner had bulldozed much of the stream after a flood and then DEP forced him to replace the bulldozed rock. Only beaver's avarice could be responsible for his having his minion, "forked tongue," arrange to buy this property. I guess I got to rambling again -- you probably are right, though, about the little rainbows.
