

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : new warm water species for me! not quite a snakehead...

Re: new warm water species for me! not quite a snakehead...

Author: : glenrockonthefly

Date: : 2012/9/9 15:22:57

URL:

Yeah I am very familiar with how nasty a Northern can be! I weighed it's head own with a rock and a little pressure (not crushing) and if I did not have 6 inch forceps that snake would still be trailing 8 inches of mono and a WB!!!

Not only are they aggressive and have nasty teeth, their saliva has an anti-coagulate to keep blood from clotting so you bleed like a stuck pig!!!