Pine is pumping red mud below Babb Creek, but clear above it. There was heavy localized rain along the Dixie Run area last night that crushed the area right around Morris. Babb Creek was clear up a little above where Dixie Run enters, but raging below that area.

Yes, that is the area NWS reported as having 18" of rain, with hail contaminating the estimated radar totals, however they conceded at least 12" in that area. That is a ton of rain in 3 hours in a localized spot.
