Dear Timbo,

It was low when I was there. And that's a helluva lot more than a drop in a bucket in my own humble opinion.

You can't even see an inch into the water where normally you can see down 10-15 feet in the swimming area at the park. The stream does not even contain silt in that the area of Worlds End. Its all hard bottom as you can clearly see in my short video. The video posted by H.A. looks pretty dramatic to me. Hopefully you know what you are talking about.

Concerned,

Jake
