Well I have been fly fishing for two months now,teaching myself how to cast and tie my own flies.its been tough but I finally got some action the other day.I lost a ski and had a follow.the one I lost hit as soon as the fly hit the water and didn't hook it good.upper 30s fish.I think im going to get one real soon with fall around the corner.it is a tough sport,thankfully I have been chasing them for 6 years and it taught me patience,because its a whole new ballgame on the fly!
