Cool report. I'm a confirmed Fallfish fan too...that's a nice one. They pull hard...harder than a Trout of equal size IMO, and have pretty good endurance to their fight too.

They're tough fish...I caught a 15"er this Spring on my 4wt that had a huge, snelled, barbed bait hook in its lip. It took me about 90 seconds to work it out without doing any more damage to the fish. Even after the fight, and the minor surgery to remove the hook, the fish gave me a bath as I returned it to the water and it bolted away.
